Nye Agrees With Barkley That Repeal of Embargo Will Get 55 to 60 Votes.

VOTE TODAY OR TOMORROW

Senators Called to Chamber Hour Earlier; Both Sides Agree on Gag Rule.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A leading opponent of arms embargo repeal conceded defeat today as the senate, prodded by Vice President Garner, rapidly approached a final vote on the administration neutrality bill.

Although expressing hope that the house would uphold the embargo, Senator Nye (R-ND) agreed with Democratic Leader Barkley that the senate's decision would come late this afternoon or tomorrow and added that repeal would get from 55 to 60 votes.

Nye's estimate would give the opposition from 36 to 41 votes if all 96 senators were recorded. But Chairman Pittman (D-Ore.) of the foreign relations committee, co-author of the bill, gave opponents a maximum of only 28 votes on a prospective motion to strike out the repeal section.

He predicted that two or three of these would favor the entire bill, which contains a "cash and carry" program of trade with warring nations.

As the vote approached, Senator Borah (R-Idaho), co-leader of the opposition, told reporters:

"If they are going to pass a bill based on the principle of this measure—cash and carry—it is about as good as bill as they can write. But of course that is not to be considered as the principle I have stood for. Cash and carry is just as unneutral as repeal of the arms embargo."

A decision by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) not to offer an amendment to embargo only "of-

Trek of Barefoot Mansfield Pair to Boys Town Ended

Two ragged, barefoot 13-year-old Mansfield boys, hitchhiking to Boys Town, Neb., are being held at Montgomery, Ala., as guests of the state highway patrol while welfare departments of Mansfield and Montgomery ponder what to do with them.

Joe Asbury, of 113 West Fourth street, and Robert Emminger, address unknown, told officers, who picked them up, they were on their way to Boys Town because they had heard they could get a good home there, according to United Press dispatches to The News-Journal. Boys Town is the famous refuge for homeless boys operated by Father Flanagan.

Capt. N. W. Kimbrough of the Alabama highway patrol contacted Mansfield authorities and Probation Officer Ralph Carroll informed the Asbury boy's father, John Asbury, who said (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Housewives, Here's Big News—Cooking School to Open Nov. 7

Exciting news! . . . Not war news and not politics, but still exciting news for the housewives of Mansfield who look forward to the announcement each fall and spring of the News-Journal's cooking school.

The annual fall cooking school will open Tuesday morning, Nov. 7, at the Ohio theater and continue four days.

And just as interesting is the announcement that Miss Ruth Chambers will be in charge of the school again. Miss Chambers, food and home making expert, has been in Mansfield for several seasons and her experience and her methods of conducting a school have made her a favorite with Mansfield women.

More than a dozen dishes on each day's program will be prepared before the audience and dis-

Pranksters Bomb Buses, Cars

Flying Stones and Apples Endanger Passengers; Parents Warned.

City and county officers were under instructions today to bring Halloween pranksters into court following reports last night of the bombing of city buses, automobiles and houses with stones, apples and tomatoes.

"It's going too far when property is damaged or destroyed and passengers are endangered, and if parents can't make their children behave, we can," Sheriff E. P. Long said.

He repeated his warning of several days ago that parents of the pranksters will be brought into court with the boys who are caught and made to pay for the damage or a fine.

Backing the sheriff in his campaign against the pranksters was Police Chief Meade K. Bates who said: "I warned before that any one caught damaging or destroying property will be brought into court, and that still holds."

"Parents are liable in most of these cases and they are going to be held responsible," the sheriff added.

City bus drivers reported that their buses were pelted with apples and tomatoes in the southern part of the city last night, with the apples thrown with almost enough force to break windows and endanger passengers.

S. M. Shanabarger, 1018 Springmill road, reported to the sheriff that boys broke windows in his home, but he refused to prosecute them after they agreed to pay for the damage.

Valentine Gerkel, 579 Springmill street, told Sheriff Long the boys threw apples at his car last night on Trimble road, breaking the glass in one of the doors.

RAILROADS HIT

Anti-Trust Law Complaint to Be Filed Against Lines.

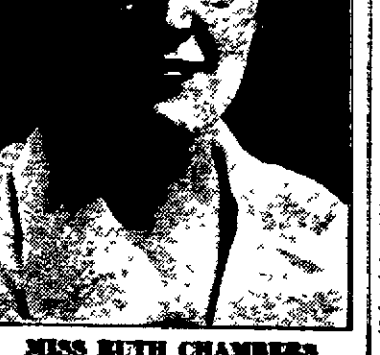

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General Murphy announced today that he had authorized filing of a complaint charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act against the Association of American Railroads, its officers and directors and 236 member railroad companies.

The bill of complaint charges, the attorney general said, that the railroads had combined to restrain trade by agreeing not to extend to motor carriers the same cooperation in carrying freight and passengers which the roads customarily extended to each other.

Another allegation was that the railroads had jointly refused to establish rail rates on carrying motor trucks, trailers, and truck bodies, "all commodity" rates, container and similar rates.

Promises Remedy For Traffic; Dems Inject New Life In Drive

Locke Also Cites Need of Revamping Engineering Department.

Reorganization of the city engineering department and a remedy for Mansfield's traffic problem were promised last night by William J. Locke, Republican candidate for mayor, at a First ward rally in Prospect park pavilion.

Speaking before an overflowing crowd, Locke outlined a long-range program, expanding the platform he introduced at the opening rally Monday.

"If elected, I shall work to effect a reorganization of the city's engineering department, eliminating unnecessary employment of outside engineering service, and I'll work out a comprehensive plan for the development of the several engineering services for the city," Locke said.

"Something will be done about the traffic situation. I plan to make a careful study of the problem and an honest effort to solve it."

"I propose to take a long-range view toward civic improvements and give all matters sufficient preliminary study so that projects not completed in my term of office will have sufficient foundation upon which my successor can build."

"I shall co-operate with civic groups and public officials, regardless of politics, toward making Mansfield a better city."

"I shall meet questions squarely and without evasion, answering yes or no without quibbling."

FACES JAIL IN CHILD'S SLAYING

Mother Pleads Guilty to Killing to Avoid 'Life of Tragedy.'

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Mrs. Eileen Preston, 33, faced five years to life in prison today for chloroforming her small daughter.

Mrs. Preston, a divorcee, said the daughter, Mabel Ann, 9, became dependent over her mother's broken romance with a man she had expected to marry. "She asked if it would be nice if God let us go home together," the mother said. "Then I realized she felt as I had when I was a little girl. I didn't want her life to be a tragedy like mine was."

Mrs. Preston pleaded guilty to murder and Judge William Ambrose fixed the crime at second degree which precluded the possibility of a death penalty.

Columbus Lawyer May Be Named To Industrial Commission.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Appointment of James A. White, 67-year-old Columbus attorney, as a member of the State Industrial Commission was considered a possibility by those in political circles today.

SAYS BIGELOW PLAN WOULD DOUBLE TAXES

Emergency Committee Leader Sees Rate in City Jumping From 15 to 35 Mills.

SEES RENTS INCREASE

Weller Predicts Passage of Amendment Would Boost Them $15 to $20.

Mansfield's tax rate will be more than doubled if the Bigelow $50-a-month pension plan is adopted by the voters Nov. 7 and if the state attempts to pay the full amount of the proposed amendments, Emerson S. Weller, chairman of the Richland County Emergency committee, charged today.

Based on his statement on a study of the tax structure of the state made by the Ohio Emergency committee, Weller said if the plan is adopted Mansfield's tax rate would have to be boosted from 15 mills to 35 mills and the average wage earner would have to "foot the bill."

"That bill," he asserted, "in Richland county alone would be in the neighborhood of $500,000."

Says Rents Would Rise. "Each house valued at $2,000 would be taxed an additional $3.33 monthly under the Bigelow plan. And the landlord who, of course, would not be penny-conscious, probably would increase the rent on such property from an average of $15 to $20 a month to make up for it," he added.

"That," Weller said, "is merely one tax, and it alone, would not pay the estimated bill."

He pointed out $196,000 the city receives from the state annually for the operation of the (Continued on Page 7, Col. 5)

Election Board Orders 28,000 for Vote on Merit Bill.

The county board of elections placed a delayed order for 28,000 special issues ballots today after it was learned that the Republican "Ripper bill" issue will be voted on Nov. 7.

Board officials were doubtful, however, if the 45 persons who have voted sick and absentee ballots will be permitted to vote again on the Civil Service amendment, known as the "Ripper bill."

Meanwhile the election board awarded the Richland Printing company a contract for printing 28,000 ballots containing the four state issues on a low bid of $302.

Anticipating the addition of the fourth issue, the board had previously ordered only 500 of the special issues ballots enough to supply sick and absent voters.

LONDON—Joachim von Ribbentrop, in his speech at Danzig, disclosed that Germany had lost all hope of obtaining peace now and was bent on waging a totalitarian war against Great Britain while trying to placate France, authorized British and French spokesmen said today.

It was held that the speech was completely negative and, as a British official source put it, was a desperate effort to keep the German people isolated from the truth about the war.

Most of the speech, it was held, was uninformative as regards the larger aspects of the war, in that it added nothing to previous Nazi pronouncements.

But, on the negative side, especial interest was shown in the fact that Ribbentrop failed to mention the British-French-Turkish mutual aid pact. This omission was regarded here as confirming the view that the pact was a heavy blow to German hopes.

Planes Fly Over Berlin, Hamburg

Reconnaissance Flights Made After Germans Sink 4 More Freighters, Bringing British Naval Losses To 45; 2 Raiders Roam Seas.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The air ministry announced today that Royal Air Force reconnaissance during the past 24 hours "included night flights over Berlin."

The announcement said night scouting flights also were made over Hamburg and Magdeburg.

The air ministry's announcement came as the house of commons awaited Prime Minister Chamberlain's comment on the "fight to the end" speech delivered last night in Danzig by German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Chamberlain was expected to deal with the speech in an appearance in commons tomorrow afternoon. It was understood he probably would reiterate British determination to fight to "crush Hitlerism," but there was no indication that statement would elaborate Britain's war aims.

Von Ribbentrop's speech apparently left British officials unmoved and brought a salvo of heated retorts from the press. An official commentary characterized the address as a "clumsy attempt to divide Britain from France."

The statement said the foreign minister had voiced "the same stupid falsehood about the aggressive intentions of Great Britain—intentions which everyone outside Germany fully understands exist only in the imagination of Herr von Ribbentrop and other members of the Nazi government."

The British commentary said "Britain and France will continue on the course they have set themselves until the attitude of the German government undergoes a change."

Information from Norway, where the City of Flint was taken by her German prize crew before going to Murnansk, Russia, indicated at least two German warships had penetrated the North sea blockade and were roaming the Atlantic.

They are the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Deutschland, gun-bristling product of former treaty limitations on the size of German ships, and the 5,400-ton cruiser (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

BERLIN: Bomb Shower Over England Next Move, Nazis Hint

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Germany's next war move probably will be to loose a shower of bombs on England, the authoritative newspaper Nationalzeitung of Essen said today.

This daily is known to be especially close to Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, air minister and No. 2 Nazi. Hence its editorials command special attention.

"The moment has come when the war desired by England must rain down upon the British Isles itself," Nationalzeitung said.

"The patience of a people has limits. In their boundless indignation the German people to a man now turn against the British war inciters in order, by a fight which hereafter will be relentless, to create the necessary guarantees for their security from such irresponsible machination."

Meanwhile the high command's communiqué reported another company of French troops had been driven from German soil on the western front. How many remained was not stated.

(French military commentators in Paris said the Nazis yesterday launched efforts apparently intended to drive the last French outposts from Germany in the Warndt forest area.)

An assault by German troops west of Woelkingen yesterday, a communiqué disclosed, caused the withdrawal of the French "rear guards" across the border.

These "rear guards" were said to have made up the one French company still on German soil as a result of operations on the western front in the first weeks of the war.

He doesn't like those sissy clothes any better than you would if you were he but Winnie is always dragging him to some dude party or making him play with nice little girls with dolls.

But they can't make a ladies' man out of Perry. That's why everyone likes him. You'll sympathize with his harrowing experiences with teachers, dance caps and truant officers.

Limbach's Blast Seen Step to Stop Bigelow In '40

DEM CHAIRMAN ATTACKS $50 PENSION PLAN

Tells County Leaders to Work for Defeat of Amendments Bigelow Proposes.

COLUMBUS, (AP)—A broadside against Herbert S. Bigelow's pension and referendum amendments, loosed last night by Democratic State Chairman Arthur L. Limbach, was interpreted in some quarters today as a further step by the party leaders to head off Bigelow as a gubernatorial possibility next year.

Addressing himself to county chairmen and state committee members, Limbach said, "I sincerely feel that both proposals should be defeated."

It was the second such statement by a party leader in less than a week. Last Thursday Former Chairman Francis W. Poulson told Democrats at a Steubenville rally that the proposals rose "above partisan politics. Let's take a stand and defeat them."

Poulson added that such a defeat "must be overwhelming so the issue will not rise to haunt us in 1940."

Persons high in party councils maintain that even though the amendments be turned down this year, they might be revived "unless that defeat is crushing." With such a revival, they contend, Bigelow would become a strong possibility for governor and, as one man said, perhaps "take the ball from such potential candidates as Former Gov. Martin L. Davey and Charles Sawyer and run away with it."

Davey alluded to such a possibility when he told the rally that while a "ham and eggs" pension plan was defeated in California last year, candidates for governor and U. S. senator who supported it were elected.

"Draw your own conclusions," Davey remarked.

While Limbach and Poulson have expressed themselves in opposition to the amendments, there has been no action either by the state executive or central committees. The state central committee was called for a meeting last week to act on a reported resolution condemning the propositions, but the meeting was postponed for lack of a quorum.

Observers said then that members absent themselves intentionally rather than take a stand on the issue. Some party leaders are known to consider the amendments politically dangerous and opposed to any action by the party. The Republican state central committee approved a resolution last week condemning the proposals. Referring to the Bigelow pension amendment, to guarantee an income of $50 monthly to single persons and $80 to couples over 60 and retired, Limbach said:

"It is inimical to the general welfare, and in my opinion, threatens the continued administration and improvement of the present old age pension plan. The proposal is poorly conceived, ill-timed and grossly ill-advised."

The other proposal, for lowering requirements for initiative legislation, was described as "equally bad."

Holds Driver, 18, Not to Blame In Aged Man's Death

A traffic accident Sunday night at Vernon Junction in which Frank Freid, 71, of near Crestline was killed was described as unavoidable today by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott after investigation.

The prosecutor said he questioned Frederick Fackler, 18, of Shiloh, driver of the car which struck the aged man and was satisfied that the youth was not responsible.

Also questioned were State Patrolman C. W. Calk, who investigated the accident and Virgil Mumaw, Mansfield, a passenger in Fackler's car.

Freid died in the Shelby Memorial hospital shortly after he was struck as he walked along route 61. Fackler's car skidded and overturned when he attempted to avoid hitting Freid.

3RD BAD CHECK

Auto Store Manager Tells Police He Cashed One for $15.

The third worthless check to appear in Mansfield in the past two weeks was reported to police today.

Edward Rogers, manager at Harry's Auto store, West Fourth street, told police that he had cashed a $15 check for a man giving the name of D. M. Moore and that it had been returned from the bank yesterday marked "no account." He told officers the man had tendered the check in payment for a battery.

Dies Bares U. S. Government's 'Red List'

Up and Down THE STREET

The first floor corridor at Senior high school in front of the main office, was brightened yesterday by a large mural of football pennants, painted by the art classes. On the mural are five flags, one for each school played this fall in football. Flags of Massillon and New Philadelphia, the schools which defeated the Tigers, are brown, while flags of schools defeated by Mansfield are in bright colors, these are Akron North, Cambridge and Sandusky.

Mansfielders may not know all of the rules governing the display of the Star Spangled Banner, but there is one they do know, and that is that Old Glory should never be left on the flag pole after sundown. Which is why a lot of them were wondering today why the flag could be seen floating in the midnight breeze last night, from the top of the city's flag pole in Central park.

Some of the political campaigners were a little "taken back" today when they told their prize joke to Atty. John F. Kramer and it failed to go over. When he was told of the man who wasn't going to vote for the three-mill levy because "they probably wouldn't let me fish off it anyway," Kramer looked somber and remarked: "I heard that one before, but I still don't see any point in it."

The death of Zane Grey, noted novelist, who died at his home in Pasadena, Cal., this week, recalled to old-time baseball fans the many occasions he appeared in Mansfield as a baseball player. A native of Zanesville, Grey tried his hand at professional baseball before taking up the more lucrative profession of writing novels. Mansfield fans remember him when he was a pitcher for Zanesville in the old Ohio State league and the games were played at the old ball park where the Hughes-Keenan plant is now located.

MARINE BAND LEADER TO USE BATON MADE BY MANSFIELDER

When Lieut. William F. Santelmann takes the platform to open the U. S. Marine band matinee concert at 2:15 p. m. Sunday in Senior high school auditorium, he will use a baton made by a Mansfield man of wood from the former home of the late Senator John Sherman of Mansfield.

Lieut. Santelmann will direct the Mansfield high school band in the first number of Sousa's "March Triumphal," swinging the baton made for him by Leroy R. Zimmerman, Mansfield fire captain. Lieut. Santelmann will keep the baton as a souvenir.

The Marine band then will take over, playing afternoon and evening concerts.

A former stage comedian and musician, Zimmerman makes batons as a hobby in a workshop at his home, 484 South Diamond street.

He has helped to train baton twirlers and worked with young musicians in Mansfield schools for years, "just for the fun of it."

The walnut wood used in turning out the gift baton was salvaged from Senator Sherman's old home just off Park avenue west when the structure was razed several years ago.

Zimmerman has worked on the baton for more than two weeks, turning it out on a lathe. The baton will be 21 inches long and about three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

During the band's engagement here, Lieut. Santelmann will present souvenir batons to 12 band leaders in Mansfield and surrounding cities and villages.

Directors who will meet the noted bandsman and receive batons are J. Merton Holcombe, band supervisor in Mansfield schools; Frank Gferr, leader of the Prospect Park band; James T. Weber, Madison high school director; Dana Snow, Danville high school; R. C. Conger, Shelby high school.

HIGH SALARIED OFFICIALS AND WORKERS NAMED

Smith, NLRB Member, Among 563 Claimed on 'Member, Mailing List' of League.

WASHINGTON—The Dies committee today made public the names of 563 government officials and employees on a "membership and mailing list" of the Washington branch of the American League for Peace and Democracy, branded a "Communist front" organization by the committee.

The list, which included names of many high salaried New Deal officials and employees, was made public over vigorous protests by officials of the league.

Edwin F. Smith, member of the National Labor Relations board, topped all others in the list in salary and position. He received $10,000 a year.

Harry C. Lambertson, lawyer employed by the Rural Electrification administration, is president of the Washington branch. His salary was listed as $6,000 annually.

Among the names included were T. E. O'Callahan, public relations counsel of the REA, $8,000 annually; Nathan Witt, National Labor Relations board, $7,500; Carroll Daugherty, economist, labor department, $7,000; Ward B. Freeman, engineer, REA, $6,000; L. C. Vass, SEC, $5,400; Sigmund Timberg, attorney, SEC, $5,200, and Ivan Assay, adviser, social security board, $5,000.

The list showed that the league is reaching into virtually every important department, bureau and commission of the government with its activities, according to committee members.

The largest number of names in any one government agency was in the social security board with 85. Seventy-four people were listed as employed in the agriculture department, 47 in the National Labor Relations board and 35 in the interior department.

Other top-ranking government officials on the list included Louis Bloch, member of the maritime labor board, $10,000 annually and Assistant Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman, $9,000 annually.

Daughter Finds Father Hanging in Loudonville Home.

LOUDONVILLE—Philip Ritter, 65, widely known in Ashland and Richland counties as a lumber dealer, was found dead at 8 a. m. today, hanging in the hall of his second floor home on East Main street.

The body, discovered by a daughter, Virginia, was hanging from a rope which had been placed over a beam in the hall ceiling after the plastering had been cut away.

Coroner George Emery was summoned from Ashland but had not given a verdict as yet. He gave Sheriff Dale Hammond permission to take the body to the Swank funeral home.

A note addressed to his two daughters at home, Virginia and Leona, indicated that Ritter had been in ill health and worried over financial matters. A third daughter residing in Willard also survives. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

FAIR ENOUGH!

The Great I Am Sect Gives Col. Pegler Sharp Case of Indignation-and of Disgust

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CLEVELAND—It seems impossible that in all history the human race has produced any more humiliating rebuke to its claims of reason and dignity than a certain congregation of about 1000 Americans who have been gathering afternoons and evenings lately in Cleveland to take part in a religious cult known as the Great I Am.

Ordinarily anyone who derides the religious faith or rites of any group is venturing on to dangerous ground, but the members of this cult, not being legally insane, have deliberately become accessories to the most revolting travesty in the entire record of religious eccentricity in the United States.

The leader is one G. W. Ballard, who has invented a list of saints and demons and who asserted in a broadcast the other evening that one of his holy spirits had taken the liberty of destroying with a sword of flame a number of foreign submarines bent on the destruction of America. Scoop!

This saint was identified as the great ascended spirit, K-17, and Ballard had the gall to announce to normal people who were listening to the radio that K-17 had removed from these submarines certain capsules containing plans for the destruction of this country, the details of which would be revealed in due course.

He also had private advice that the ascended spirits, using the same weapon, had just routed a flight of Japanese bombers attacking a city in China. This was another scoop.

The headquarters of the cult, naturally, are in Los Angeles, but Ballard and his wife, a rugged, opinionated woman with a nagging voice and an inexhaustible tongue, have operated in Chicago and are bound for Philadelphia and Washington after they have mopped up in Cleveland.

They travel de luxe, maintain a stable of expensive yellow automobiles and carry a staff whose duties include the sale of literature, photograph records and pictures and the forcible ejection of infidels who jangle the mood of the screwball devotion with heretical raspberries.

When I picked up a sheaf of booklets to confirm in print what I had heard in bewilderment from the platform, one of the brothers stepped up and said, "That will be just $1.60." My books contain the most astonishing gibberish, but in an unwonted way are worth the money.

One, for example, claims that St. Germain, the No. 1 or boss man of the host of great ascended spirits, in one embodiment, worked

Speaking with a slight brogue like Father Coughlin's, Ballard says "tremenjous," sometimes uses the singular verb with the plural noun and invokes the cosmic light, the united flame and the sacred three times three to remove all strike agitators, abolish all debt and prevent the publication of false reports about the Great I Am.

Ballard's followers are obviously not poor, possess a deceptive outward appearance of intelligence and include an as yet uncertain person in comfortable circumstances who claims to have made himself invisible one day last week.

He knows he was invisible because his pet cat, coming into the room where he sat invisible, didn't purr and rub against his legs, as it usually does, and therefore must have been unable to see him.

Ballard bought $1,600 worth of radio time in Cleveland and must have done all right.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—European plots and counter-plots have played ned with many a movie writer's work, but so far the geni of the scripts have shown eel-like facility in skirting the perils of a topsy-turvy geography and time.

In the first week abroad, you could hear writers lamenting over completed scripts with Paris or London settings. The stories were what at least passed for peace. Characters took passage on transatlantic steamers, made love on the Eiffel tower, strolled the parks and streets with a nonchalance that would be obviously "dated" in a war-conscious Europe. A Paris or London so pictured, minus sandbags and anti-aircraft guns and air raid shelters, would not be up-to-the-minute. Writers moaned especially if their stories could not be adapted to war conditions, could not have happened under war conditions.

"Ninotchka," the Ernst Lubitsch-Greta Garbo comedy, was already filmed—with its definite Paris setting, when war broke. It was finished, in fact, before Germany and Soviet Russia began billing and coining, which is important because Garbo plays a Soviet emissary on official business in Paris. The apparent "dating" of the story, however, is deftly twisted into an asset. An introductory subtitle, such as they used in the old silent films, sets the gay mood of the piece, describing it as a tale of Paris "in the good old days when a siren was a brunei and not an alarm," and when "a Frenchman turned out the lights it didn't mean a raid."

One hilarious scene in the film, a commentary on the old Soviet-Nazi hatred, is "dated"—but to the picture's advantage as it is even funnier now. Three Soviet emissaries meet a train bearing a commissar come to supervise them. They do not know the man, they do not know the man, they do not know the man.

"Vigil in the Night," as written by A. J. Cronin had no war; the scripters brought the story up to date, during production, by ringing in evacuation of English hospitals, in one of which the doctor hero and nurse heroine are stationed.

"Career Man," a pre-war propaganda piece, underwent week-to-week changes and re-takes to keep up with the headlines, emerging finally as the ultra-timely "Espionage Agent."

"Remember?" had a minor problem—but they solved it with a simple script change. Robert Taylor isn't going to Europe for a vacation—the character goes to South America instead.

There's a boner in the Marx Brothers' "Day at the Circus," but a minor one. One of the characters aboard an ocean steamer carries on a ship-to-shore telephone conversation—a pastime not indulged in wartime.

Recipes For Tasty Cakes

By ALICE LYNN HARRY

Summer is over and many of us are anxious to try our hand again at baking. So get together with our oven and make some cakes with which to pleasantly surprise the family. Remember that standardized measuring devices and a strict adherence to recipe rules are vital for good cake making.

Ginger Pound Cake, aromatic and spicy, is made with one cup butter or shortening, three-fourths cup granulated sugar, one and one-half cups molasses, five eggs, three and one-half cups all-purpose flour, two teaspoons baking powder, two teaspoons each ginger and cinnamon, three-fourths teaspoon cloves, teaspoon salt, teaspoon baking soda dissolved in two tablespoons hot water. Thoroughly cream butter or other shortening with sugar. Stir in molasses. Beat eggs until light; add to molasses mixture. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and spices; add to first mixture. Add soda dissolved in hot water. Blend until smooth. Pour into large oiled cake pan or two brick-shaped pans. Bake about one and one-half hours in slow oven (325° F.). Remove from pan when slightly cold. Slice the following day.

Poppy Seed Cake is made with one-half cup poppy seed, one cup milk, one-half cup butter, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon powdered mace, two cups cake flour, two teaspoons baking powder and four stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bruise the poppy seeds in a mortar or chop them gently in a chopping bowl, then soak in milk (not using the milk mentioned in the list of ingredients). Soak for an hour. Cream butter and sugar until white and then add the poppy seed and the mace. Add the sifted dry ingredients and the milk. Fold in egg whites. Pour into greased oblong cake pan. Bake one hour in moderate (350° F.) oven. Cool and sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.

Chocolate Upside Down Cake, a grand "company" cake, is made with one cup sifted cake flour, teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup sugar, one-fourth cup butter or other shortening; one well-beaten egg, six tablespoons milk, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one square unsweetened chocolate (melted), three tablespoons butter, one-half cup sugar, four slices canned pineapple cut in wedges or one cup grated pineapple. (Canned pears, apricots, peaches or bananas may be substituted for pineapple.) Sift flour once, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine egg, milk and vanilla; add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened. Add chocolate and blend; then vigorously beat for one minute. Fold three table-

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I listened avidly to the colloquy between the operator and the unknown caller.

"But I told you," the operator was saying, "Mr. Graham is not here. He has not been here. We do not expect him here tonight."

"What about his wife?" a raucous female voice said impatiently, and I gave a start, luckily, an inaudible movement, for I recognized the voice instantly. It was that of the supposedly drunken woman who had once tried to find out Dickey's whereabouts from me at the hotel, the woman who had talked with him at the restaurant, and who, I had later discovered, was taking Edith Fairfax's place during Edith's absence from the magazine, whose ownership she and Dicky shared.

Thank Heaven! I mentally apostrophized. If the woman were seeking Dickey, he was not in any immediate danger, unless—the thought turned me quickly faint—the woman's gangster associate had double-crossed her and had secured possession of his person unknown to her.

"Mrs. Graham is not here, either," the operator said, "she has not been here, nor is she expected. But I have explained all this to you at least twice before tonight."

"And you'll have to explain it many more times buddy, before this night is over," the woman rejoined, and something in her voice told me that she had had just enough intoxicating liquor to make her quarrelsome. "All your palaver means exactly nothing to me. Are you going to call that dame to the telephone or aren't you?"

"I can't call her when she isn't here," the operator said with schooled patience. "Is there any—"

"Look here, you. We're going to find Dicky Graham tonight. We know he's there or coming there. He's wanted—by the police—and it's just going to be too bad for you if you don't produce him. We'll be over there in 10 minutes."

"That is your privilege," the operator said. "Good night."

I knew that he had pulled out the cord connecting the man, for the next instant he was speaking to me in professionally soothing fashion.

"Do not be alarmed, Mrs. Graham. That was simply an idle threat."

But it was not an idle threat when he called me again 10 minutes later to say breathlessly:

"I wanted to warn you, Mrs. Graham. Two police officers are bringing Mr. Graham upstairs. I did not want you to be startled."

But then my very spine chilled again as the man said slowly, malevolently:

—Advice—

Italians Pay For Being Unwed

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

They have no patience with single blessedness in Italy. That is, if you are of the male persuasion. In that lovely land of sunshine and beauty, no woman is supposed to remain unmarried of her own free will.

"Miss Jones, by choice" is nonexistent in Italy—or so the powers affect to believe. If a girl doesn't marry, someone must have put the evil eye on her.

Now let's consider the case of a young Italian citizen of 25. Suppose he's been in love with a certain girl for the past three or four years, and she won't have him. Or her parents and his are throwing a modern Romeo and Juliet feud.

Or suppose two young things desperately in love can't afford to marry. His earnings and her thrift are just not sufficient to keep the pot boiling. They part in despair. So, on the young man's next birthday, he receives as a gift a notice from the tax collector that on the tenth day of every second month, he'll be 'round to collect from the young man for the offense of not being married.

Of course, all this campaign for "more and better babies" is in the interest of future wars, more soldiers for cannon fodder. And since bachelors are not contributing children to Fascist Italy, the idea is to make them pay for the little soldiers-to-be. And pay they do, to the tune of $10,000,000 a year, for the privilege of remaining single. Blessed United States, where you don't have to get married unless you want to!

Exempt from the bachelors' tax are Catholic priests, foreigners, war veterans, incompetents whose marriage is forbidden by law, permanently disabled, and those confined to poorhouses and hospitals.

GIVES CHAPEL

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—A $5,000 Catholic chapel has been provided for Columbia by a woman who never visited South Carolina. Mrs. Sarah Vaughan of Limerick, Ireland, made the provision in her will. She died in New York last year. She had learned the need of a chapel in South Carolina through a priest while visiting in the United States.

Your ultimate destination generally depends somewhat upon the road you first select, in contract bidding as well as in traveling. But the kind of deal will come along occasionally which gets you to the same contract regardless of the direction in which you start. Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

IT'S ONLY the end of October, and right now Christmas seems pretty far away . . . but really, it's just around a very short corner. . . . And all this becomes quite apparent after an afternoon of shopping in the downtown stores—because they're chock full of all kinds of gift suggestions.

Marianne

Perfume isn't just perfume in a prosaic little glass bottle anymore—this Christmas will find it dressed up in style—and some of these attractive packages already have arrived in the local shops. . . . A famous French perfumer has really done himself proud—he's designed a gay little red boot which is filled with cellophane snow and a flacon of any desired scent of his perfume—and there's a hook on the back of the boot so that it can be used to decorate the Christmas tree. . . . And speaking of tree decorations, this Frenchman has a box of Christmas ball soaps for just that purpose—the colors are red, green, yellow, blue, purple and white, while the scents are rose geranium, pine, sandalwood, floral bouquet, lilac and gardenia. . . . A little more dainty is the poinsettia basket—a miniature basket decorated with plush posies and containing a vial of perfume. . . . Other unusual features of this French line are a small leather riding boot filled with a bottle of "Grand Prix" perfume. . . . And the newest thing out for men in this line, which has a drum as its basic theme, is the kettle drum shaving bowl—filled with soap in the scent "Of Thee I Sing."

Each special gift season seems to bring with it a new avalanche of trick soap figurines. . . . A soapy aquarium has three pastel tinted soap fish swimming about above a sponge beach decorated with a bright colored star fish, seaweed and shells. . . . There's a set of white soap flowerpots filled with little bouquets . . . a Christmas wreath . . . a Christmas cake tied with green cellophane . . . a little Dutch girl surrounded by tiny pink flowerpots . . . a half dozen Santas tied up in red and white felt. . . . And about the cutest soap novelty of all is discovered upon opening the top and sides of a small box to find three silver-winged angels grouped around some music singing "Noel"—this is appropriately called "The Angels Sing."

SAGE ADVICE has always been to do your Christmas shopping early—and with all the attractive things in the stores these days you'll find it extremely easy to do just that. . . . While looking around yesterday I saw some of the prettiest dresser sets—nice for gifts or for your own dressing table. . . . The three-piece crystal sets (powder jar, cologne and perfume atomizers) are decorated with pink, blue, orchid and green flowers and come with a mirror tray to reflect their beauty. . . . Or if you only want an atomizer, you'll be delighted with the new "paperweight" one for perfume, which can be purchased in crystal, blue and other light colors. . . . An unusual cologne atomizer is a tall cut glass one etched with a floral design and trimmed in gold. . . . And all these items are guaranteed to enhance any dressing table.

Have you seen the slick lingerie sets they're showing downtown now? They'll keep your dresser drawers neat and attractive and protect your undies and hankies.—These sets are made up of four sizes of envelope containers in such color combinations as pink and blue, red and white, brown and yellow, blue and rose.

IF THE MAN in your house all too frequently slashes your good towels by drying his razor on them, you'll be both relieved and pleased with the special little towels a downtown store is selling for just that purpose. . . . These small white towels have pastel tinted borders bearing the words "razor cloth" so that there can be no mistaken identity.

You'll enjoy dealing the cards at your next bridge party, because there's a new deal in nail polish shades on the market just now. . . . With such names as Red Dice, Chitlbean, Shy, Bravo, Hijinks and Gadabout you'll be sure to find a shade to harmonize with all your costumes.

AND THEN if you want to be sure your hands won't detract from the new polish, you can protect them with some new mitts of creamy liquid latex. . . . These are the only rubber mittens manufactured, and strange as it may seem, they offer more freedom than any gloves! I know, because I tried them on and found that I could write as well as pick change from my purse with ease—so the mitts can be used for gardening, dishwashing, house cleaning and all other "hand wearing" tasks. . . . and they come in a variety of bright colors to harmonize with your costume or your kitchen. . . . Oh yes, another important use for the mitts is that they can be worn over the children's mittens to protect them from rain and snow this winter.

Note: The styles described above are available in Mansfield shops. You can learn where they may be obtained if you will telephone Marianne at The News-Journal between 1 and 2:30 p. m.—Canal 4251.

ARGUMENTS ON CIVIL SERVICE BILL DETAILED

Proponents, Opponents Outline Views on Reorganization Up for November Vote.

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS—Official pro and con arguments on the Civil Service reorganization bill, subject of a referendum on the Nov. 7 election, were completed today. They are designed for the guidance of the electorate.

The bill was passed by the Republican-dominated legislature at the insistence of Gov. John W. Bricker. A group of provisional state employees discharged by the Bricker administration and Democratic state headquarters joined in a movement to obtain the referendum.

The official arguments follow:
In favor of the bill:
The civil service act was amended by the legislature for the purpose of retaining in public service competent employees with appointment and tenure based on merit. The amendment was requested by civil service advocates and follows the general plan of an ideal civil service law, as suggested by the Sherrill governmental survey.

The new act provides:
1. The civil service commission is granted administrative and reviewing powers as a quasi-judicial body.
2. District offices may be provided, if necessary, to carry out the provisions of the law.
3. It provides for a civil service rotary account which will provide funds needed to enforce the merit system.

4. The laws on appeals to the commission from departmental rulings has been clarified and greatly broadened to the advantage of the civil service employees.

5. Classified service employees may not be removed from office except for cause.

6. The civil service commission is authorized to retain its own counsel to conduct proceedings for violation of the act.

7. The law is to be administered by three persons (two at present) who are known to be in sympathy with the merit system of government.

No person in public service is permitted to use his official authority or influence to demand political assessments and require political activities of civil service employees. The amended civil service law definitely re-establishes the merit system in public service, and places it on a par with improved civil service laws now in operation in many other states.

Yes Vote Supports It.
The voters of Ohio should support the merit system by voting "yes" on house bill 14 which is a great step forward in civil service in Ohio.

In opposition to the bill:
House bill No. 14 of the 93rd general assembly, sometimes referred to as "a civil service reorganization act," is better and more truly known as "the civil service ripper bill" which an overwhelmingly partisan legislature enacted in the last hours of its session at the insistence of the present governor in order to give that governor or complete control over Ohio's civil service commission and over the interpretation and administration of laws affecting public employees in his state.

This act, partially conceived, partially enacted, and designed to be partially administered, offers no hope for the desired extension of the merit system or for improvement in our public service. It would remove all protection from provisional employees. It would not recognize any rights of employees due to seniority of service. But most important of all, it would place in the hands of the governor the power to use the public service for his own political purposes.

The civil service commission would be changed from its present bi-partisan character into a purely partisan three-member administrative body, two of the members to be of the same political party and to be appointed by the present governor, who would thereby have direct control of this administration for at least four years regardless of the will of the people as expressed in intervening elections.

This act, by plunging civil service into party politics, would set up a vicious "spoils system" throughout Ohio; and would turn our state government into a vast political machine. To preserve the merit system, keep civil service out of politics by voting "no" on house bill No. 14.

MURDER BABIES

Africa Still Believes in Killing Twins at Birth.

JASPER, Ala.—(AP)—Africa still is the Dark Continent in many ways.

C. J. Dotson, Baptist missionary to Rhodesia, has found it so, he said, in an address at the First Baptist church of Jasper.

Greatest Rhodesian superstition, which British authorities have had scant success in suppressing, is the killing of babies. If twins are born, they must be killed. If a baby cuts an upper tooth first, it must be killed. If either twin were allowed to live, the natives claim, a great calamity would befall the tribe.

Dotson said the natives dodge strict British laws by dispatching the ill-starred babies secretly, then reporting that they died of illness.

SECRET SERVICE TRACES FORGERY

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—A loss of $500 a month in forged WPA paychecks is occurring in Houston, Forrest V. Sorrels, U. S. Secret Service agent, has informed local merchants.

Names are forged to 35 to 40 WPA checks stolen in Houston each month, and the money paid out on those with forged signatures costs merchants $500 a month because the person accepting the check usually sustains the loss.

Bring Music to Mansfield From 'Them Thar Hills'

When the boys and girls of the WLB Boone County Jamboree play at the Madison theater tomorrow, Mansfielders will be particularly interested in the appearance of the Drifting Pioneers and Denny, for this group of entertainers has won a wide radio following with their weekly show on the air waves.

The Pioneers are vocalists as well as instrumentalists and are heard in quartet and solos. Hymns and Negro spirituals are a specialty with them. Denny, an Illinois farm boy, adds clowning to his other talents.

Lazy Jim Day, of Short Creek, Ky., one of the original members of the Boone County folks, is the story teller and homespun philosopher, and Helen Diller the "Canadian Cowgirl," is noted for her yodeling and songs of the range.

Kenny Carlson and his wife cracking dummy present their well-known ventriloquist act, while the Kentucky Girls, Jo and Alma, sing and play native mountain music.

The Boone County program is one of the older ones on the WLB air lanes and is heard early every morning except Sunday.

PETIT JURORS CALLED AGAIN

Panel Yet to Hear Complete Case, Convenes for $1,953 Judgment Suit Today.

The September term petit jury, which has yet to hear a complete case, made another attempt today when it re-convened for the scheduled trial of a $1,953 judgment suit.

In the action, George J. Moyer seeks a judgment from N. H. Heston as an executor for funds Moyer contends is due for personal services. Atty. C. J. Kalbfleisch is counsel for the plaintiff and J. M. Reed for the defendant.

The jury, drawn last month, has started two cases so far this week, but one of them was settled and in the other a directed verdict was returned for the plaintiff by Judge C. H. Huston.

The directed verdict was returned yesterday for G. S. Brightbill, Mansfield real estate agent who sought $100 from Clayton Lauer and others as the balance due in commission on a sale.

After a part of the evidence was heard in a contested will and judgment case, attorneys in the action agreed on a settlement.

The agreement provides that Frank M. Neff, defendant, consent to returning of a $6,000 judgment against him in favor of J. Harry Craig, the plaintiff. In addition to the judgment, Neff will be required to turn five diamond rings over to Craig in full payment of claims against the estate of the late Minnie Neff. Frank M. Neff is executor of her estate.

Attys. Charles W. Chew, John F. Kramer and John C. O'Donnell represented Craig and Attys. J. M. Reed and A. S. Beach were counsel for Neff.

INSPECT MILK PLANTS IN CITY

Tiffin Delegation Taken on Tour, Study Milk Ordinance Here.

A group of Tiffin officials studying the adoption of the U. S. Public Health standard milk ordinance for that city were in Mansfield yesterday inspecting local producers' and distributors' equipment.

The delegation including the city's sanitary officer, two members of the Tiffin board of health and three Tiffin producers were taken on an inspection trip of city milk plants and producers' farms.

A spokesman said they had come to Mansfield to obtain first hand information concerning the operation of the ordinance which has been in effect here for the past several years.

They were escorted by Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, D. P. Griffin, the city's sanitary engineer, and S. H. Young, sanitary inspector.

Students to Tour Columbus Radio Station Thursday

Five Senior high school students, representing the student Radio Council, will go to Columbus tomorrow where they will make a tour of the Ohio State university radio station WOSU.

The tour has been planned by Miss Margaret Tinsley, council adviser, to give the students an opportunity to make a study of how a radio station operates, how programs are handled and produced.

The Radio Council was organized recently by Miss Tinsley. In addition to making a study of radio, the council will produce and present programs and plays over the school's public address system.

Students making the trip are Marjorie Boals, Margaret Wadsworth, Lois Robinson, Richard Wright and William Houston. They will be accompanied by Miss Tinsley.

Officials of the John Simpson Junior high school orchestra, chosen at a recent meeting, were announced today by S. K. Jorgenson, director. They are James Curry, president; LaDonna Hink, secretary; and George Porterfield, manager.

Concertmasters for the Senior and two junior high school orchestras also were named by Jorgenson. They are Joe Pival, senior high school, Richard Beilstein, Hedges junior high school, and George Porterfield, John Simpson high school.

Group Beat Up Pupils Who Failed To Pay Tribute To Gang.

CINCINNATI—PNS—Police announced today they had uncovered a juvenile "protective association" which extracted money from boys for the "privilege" of attending school.

Captured "ringleaders" told investigating authorities that they conceived the idea from a motion picture. Victims who did not have fifteen cents for "dues" were beaten by small fists encased in brass knuckles.

NEW CHRISTMAS TOYS STRESS PREPAREDNESS AND NOT WAR

(By International News Service) NEW YORK — Preparedness, not war, is the style of the day in the toy market today. While war toys have increased about 25 per cent in volume this season, they've stressed national defense not out-and-out conflict.

Anti-aircraft guns, airplanes, model forts, aircraft carriers, battleships, West Point garbed soldiers and United States army trucks are the newest playthings offered for Junior. His little sister can keep up with the war in a Red Cross uniform, minister to the sick from a realistic doctor's kit or treat her dolls in their own private hospital.

European-made toys, however, go in for real war. Toy soldiers imported from abroad display bandaged arms, the dolls are uniformed and very elaborate replicas of warfare weapons are available.

Greatest stress in the boy market, now readying its wares for the Christmas rush, has been on airplanes. Every government model has its replica and aircraft carriers are as realistic as government regulations will allow.

A toy fort, replete with anti-aircraft guns, soldiers and army equipment, is ready to repulse any enemy air bombardment while a fully equipped airport can house a whole fleet of pursuit planes. No gas masks are available in the toy market, however.

A game of battle strategy is offered for the amusement of the elders, but toy manufacturers don't expect it to be popular.

They point out that the trend

In adult games is away from the realistic. The trend during the past five years had been towards games depicting actual situations—real estate transactions, traffic hazards, business procedure—but with the advent of the war, an anti-realism reaction set in.

There's even a "back to the farm" movement in the toy market, especially popular with the city youngsters. Miniature farms, with barns, houses, animals and landscaping will be under many an urban Christmas tree, manufacturers predict, and the youngsters will be riding around on toy tractors rather than tricycles.

Here's a Hester Potter item from Robinson, Kan., that you may care to think about: "A well-to-do farmer went out and found the steering wheel of his car covered with cobwebs, which might explain why he is well-to-do."

Whatever co-operation or assistance the Legion may need in making a success of this initial venture into sponsorship of Mansfield's Halloween celebration should be cheerfully accorded.

Severe Tests For Flyers

Aviation tests are severe. Requirements are high, particularly for military and commercial pilots. Yet it is surprising that only six persons out of 100 are qualified physically and mentally for the air corps reserve.

Tax Receipts in County for
First Week of Month
Total $11,034.

Richland county's sales tax receipts for the first week of October amounted to $11,034 for a 10 per cent increase over the corresponding week last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht reported today.

The week's collections boosted the total for the year to $372,774, a gain of $69,591 over the corresponding period of 1938.

Ebricht said $49,255 had been paid to organizations throughout the state so far this year for saving and redeeming used tax stamps. Seventeen churches and organizations in 11 cities received checks for $100 or more, he said.

The treasurer estimated that more than $90,000 will be paid out for old stamps this year. He credited the stamp redemption plan, inaugurated this year, with a part of the $4,500,000 increase in sales tax collections this year over last year.

CHAPTER VIII

He smiled crookedly. Her eyes rested on his mop of light sandy hair. She wanted to reach out and run her fingers through it. The memory of that night when he had held her in his arms came to her with fierce clarity. Oh, he couldn't go! She couldn't let him go! He'd been punished enough!

"My duties the past few weeks have been light," Stanton said. "You're not in great need of a driver, Miss Rhodes. I've been in town day after day looking for another job—and you haven't missed me."

"You—have?" Rita's eyes were wide. "Why didn't you explain? I could have raised your wages."

He grinned in a pleased sort of way. "Thank you—but there's no chance for advancement here. I have to make real money—a great deal of it—soon."

"If you're in trouble—need help—"

That mystery surrounded him—what was it doing to him? Oh, if he'd only let her help!

Stanton laughed carelessly. "I'm still a lawabiding citizen—if that's what you mean," he said. "I do need money—for a certain reason. So I'm going in for salesmanship—selling automobiles—and hope to make good."

Rita savagely bit her trembling lower lip. She busied herself with tucking a wisp of golden hair under her blue bathing cap, avoiding his eyes. She wanted to cry out, "I can't—I won't let you go!" but she held her tongue.

For a long palpitating moment he gazed at her intently, waiting for her to speak. When she didn't, he said unsteadily, "Thanks for everything, Miss Rhodes—it's been nice knowing you. Good morning—but not good-bye. We'll meet again—soon." Then he strode swiftly from her.

She could not utter a sound. Miserably, she watched his good-looking tall figure swing gracefully across the white beach; the play of muscular shoulders beneath his coat; the long lithe legs that carried him out of sight around a corner of the house.

She sank weakly to the burning hot sand. Listlessly, she picked up an empty shell, gazed unseeingly into its pearly blue-gray recesses, stroked a finger over its fuzzy gray exterior.

A sudden swirl of anger brought her sharply to her feet. She swung her arm high, flung the shell far out to a foam-crested wave. She said to herself, "I wish I had never seen him—I hope I never lay eyes on him again!"

She waded slowly into the cool water, and her anger faded as quickly as it had come. She was filled with an inconsolable sense of desolation, and wondered what she could do about it.

A few days later, Rita was called upon to face a really disastrous situation. After she had paid the servants' wages and made out the checks to settle housekeeping accounts, her checking account was almost exhausted.

At first this caused her no particular concern. All she had to do was to call Haywood Yates, the family attorney, who would as usual send her more money. But contrary to his customary acquiescence in matters of this kind, he told her over the telephone that he must discuss financial matters with her immediately, and practically invited himself to dinner that evening. Rita was slightly put out, because although Haywood Yates was a bachelor in his middle forties and by no means in his dotage, she looked upon time spent in entertaining him completely wasted.

Nevertheless, Mr. Yates arrived punctually on the dinner hour, apparently enjoyed the excellent meal with the zest of an epicure, and promptly afterward, over coffee in the library, came to the point of his visit. It had to do with Wilmet Green. It was even worse than Rita could have expected from Wilmet, as much as she detested him. He had been playing the stock market for several years with money not his own; he had gambled away Rita's entire fortune. Mr. Yates had received a letter from Wilmet in which he confessed everything. Now, instead of speeding toward Paris as Rita had supposed, he was in hiding. Even Mr. Yates had no idea where he was and had put detectives on the case.

Rita, feeling as if her feet had been swept out from under her, managed to get through the remainder of the evening with the optimistic Mr. Yates, who said that Delores' fortune would be ample to straighten out everything, and there was nothing for Rita to worry about. But Rita was summed name, and had ended his life with a pistol shot.

Rita immediately relayed the tragic news to Delores, expecting she would think it necessary now to come home. But the note Delores sent in reply—she didn't bother to cable—showed her evident relief. Now, she would not have to go on with her expensive divorce. She and the dear count could be married at once.

This utter callousness made Rita realize that she must never again expect anything even remotely heroic from Delores. Delores had never grown up, always looked fifteen years younger than she actually was, and probably told the count about

Finns Mine Southern Coast, Wait Demands of Russia

DELEGATES TO SOVIET PARLEY SPEED RETURN

Finland Completes Defense Preparations But Hopes for Peace Increase.

(By United Press) HELSINKI, FINLAND—Three areas off the southern coast of Finland have been mined, the naval staff announced today as the government's delegation to Moscow sped here with Soviet Russia's demands in writing.

The naval command's announcement virtually completed defensive preparations by Finland, which previously had called all able-bodied men to be ready for any eventuality.

The sections mined were in Finland's territorial waters on the southern coast, between longitude 21.21 and 29.02, the announcement said, covering virtually the entire south coast of Finland across the gulf from Soviet Russia and Estonia, where the Soviets have new army and navy bases.

Hope for a peaceful solution of the negotiations with Russia increased as the Finnish mission returned.

The fact that J. K. Paasikivi and Finance Minister V. A. Tanner, chief Finnish negotiators, had accepted a written memorandum of the demands was interpreted here to mean that they could not be entirely unacceptable. It was also reported that no new claims were embodied in them.

Demands Kept Secret. Neither Russia nor Finland has disclosed the extent of the demands, but they are said to include the cession to Russia of two or three islands in the Gulf of Finland close to the Russian naval base at Kronstadt, and a share of influence in the strategic Aaland Islands, between Finland and Sweden.

The general belief was that Paasikivi and Tanner would return next week with Finland's official reply.

Finland meanwhile, kept 300,000 troops on the alert along the Russian border, and Helsinki was one-third evacuated, with no children remaining.

BRICKER MAPS SPEECH

SEES PENSIONS DOUBLE TAXES

Emergency Committee Leader Says Bigelow Plan Would Boost Rate 20 Mills.

city government, including the fire and police departments and the state's share for the administration of the relief burden here would go to pay the debt entailed by passage of the amendment.

"If every single person over 60 received $50 and every married couple over that age $80, as the plan proposes, it would cost every family of five no matter how humble, $200 a year in additional taxes," Weller declared.

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, of Cincinnati, sponsor of the plan, contends it would mean an expenditure of $60,000,000, which he says could be defrayed by a two per cent tax on all land valued at more than $20,000 an acre, plus a tax on large incomes.

In that way, he says, "only the rich" would pay.

The committee has estimates from tax experts who agree the cost would be at least five times greater, Weller said. State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt asserts that if the amendment is approved, the state's pension bill in 1940 would be $310,000,000.

Schools Would Suffer. Since the Bigelow plan proposes to raise only $60,000,000, the committee contends that the remaining millions would have to be obtained through taxation, elimination of present subsidies to county, municipal and township governments, or seizure of funds allocated to schools, welfare and relief agencies.

And that, the committee warns, is the reason the burden would fall eventually on the average person.

Pointing out $210,000 Mansfield schools now receive from the school foundation fund every year would be "lost" if the proposal passes, Weller predicted a sharp curtailment of school activities affecting 6,300 pupils and 225 teachers.

"Besides this," he said, "the children's home, aid to dependent children, the blind and crippled soldiers would also suffer from the loss of $300,000 annually received in state taxes."

It was pointed out that in addition, the state would probably levy a one per cent payroll tax that would take another $170,000 from the pockets of Mansfield workers and that a one cent increase in the sales tax would "grab" another $143,400 from the community.

"And after all these assessments are made the pension fund will still be short some $20,000,000 of the $310,000,000 required for its operation. And remember—the tax is forever," he said.

The Shenandoah grange went on record Tuesday night in regular session as opposing the Bigelow amendment. Ralph Bly and C. L. Beal, Shelby, and Chester Mellick, Shenandoah, spoke on the amendment.

DEMS 'PEP UP' VOTE CAMPAIGN

Next week the drive will be resumed Tuesday night with a Fourth Ward meeting at Bowman school at which Atty. George Bidle will be the principal speaker.

Sixth Ward Democrats will hold a rally at Hedges school on Nov. 2, and the following day Democratic colored voters will have a rally at the Richland County-Colored Democratic club headquarters on North Diamond street.

Only 39 Sick, Absentee Ballots Issued by Election Board.

The county board of elections had issued only 39 sick and absentee voters' ballots today, indicating less interest in this municipal campaign than in the city campaign of 1937.

At the same time two years ago, 50 of the ballots had been handed by the election board, Deputy Clerk Walter Underwood said.

Eighty-one applications for the ballots had been received today, however, but a number of them had not been approved.

Sick and absentee ballots may be voted at the election board office in the courthouse or by mail until Thursday, Nov. 2.

EIGHT YOUTHS DESCRIBE LIFE AT BOYS STATE FOR ROTARIANS

Eight Mansfield boys who were among the 800 Ohio boys of high school age who participated in the Buckeye Boys' State, held at the state fair ground in Columbus the last week in June, were in attendance at Tuesday's Rotary club meeting, held at the Mansfield LeLand hotel, and told of their experiences and training in government during that period.

W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, was program chairman of the meeting and introduced H. D. Bishop, assistant high school principal, who is also chairman of the American Legion educational committee. Bishop explained the Legion's sponsoring of the Boys' State as a part of the Americanization work of that organization.

Fred Lavender, who was chairbrister, each of whom told of the capacity in which he served while in Columbus.

Assembly singing was directed by LeMoine Dorr, with Maurice Stretch as pianist. A report was made that Rotary road signs, giving time and place of weekly meetings, have been installed at entrances to Mansfield on seven main highways.

Charles E. Nail, chairman of the vocational service committee, is to be in charge of next Tuesday's meeting, in which the program will be devoted to the work of that committee.
